
Recession in Massachusetts...

It's time to "speak out" for jobs, health care and quality public services

Across the state, working people and retirees are facing tough times. Thousands of people are being laid off, losing their health care and retirement benefits.

Social services, unemployment and welfare benefits have been rolled back, so there is virtually no safety net left to protect Massachusetts families.

Meanwhile, CEOs are getting big bonuses, companies are getting hefty tax breaks and Congress is talking about giving another huge tax break for the rich.

Speak out to community leaders and our elected officials!*

Saturday, February 2
2 – 5 PM

Faneuil Hall, Boston

And plan now to attend a special follow-up conference
"Forging a New Social Contract" set for Saturday, February 9.
Call for more info.

* All Mass. members of Congress, state constitutional officers and the Mayor of Boston invited.

Sponsored by the Massachusetts Workers' Rights Board and endorsed by more than 35 labor, immigrant, religious, welfare, and social justice organizations.

For more information, call Massachusetts Jobs with Justice
(617) 524-8778 or email bostonjwj@mindspring.com